About

Tomasz Stasiak heads the Polish Real Estate & Construction team, which has expanded significantly since he joined the firm in 2017. Tomasz has over 20 years of professional experience on the CEE real estate market, which coincides with the growth of the modern, institutional real estate market in Poland. Tomasz has represented major international investors and developers in a number of landmark projects in Poland, Ukraine, Hungary and Lithuania. Tomasz's experience encompasses all industry sectors, from logistics and office to retail, leisure and residential; and from land acquisition through the development process, including permitting, financing and leasing, to de-investment and portfolio transfers. Tomasz also has experience assisting international manufacturing corporations operating in Poland with respect to construction and labor matters. Tomasz has been advising on restructuring of major real estate portfolios, including rezoning, conversion of yielding assets and forming development-focused joint ventures. He cooperates with other Wolf Theiss offices providing unified cross border advice on a daily basis.

Tomasz has acted as an arbitrator in real estate disputes. Prior to joining Wolf Theiss, Tomasz cooperated with other prominent international law firms in Warsaw and Kyiv. He is an attorney-at-law admitted to the Warsaw Bar Association. He speaks English fluently.

Law done right.
